

*Empowering Minds, Elevating Futures

Our Story

Our story is not one of coincidence, but of a journey that spans over three decades of dedication and expertise. For more than 30 years, the founders built their careers across leading international and local firms in construction, engineering consultancy, real estate development, project management consultancy, claims and dispute resolution, institutional transformation, and digital business transformation. Along the way, they reinforced their hands-on experience with academic and professional qualifications, sharpening their skills to deliver services at the highest global standards.

The turning point came during a conversation between the two founders, a dialogue about the visible gaps in the market. High-quality services aligned with global best practices were often accessible only through large international firms, but at a financial cost that became a burden to many clients and projects. At the same time, there was a shared dream: to build an entity where people always come first. A company that not only manages projects, but also nurtures talents, transfers knowledge, and empowers wider communities of professionals.

Driven by this vision, the founders took a bold step forward. After nearly two years of careful planning, they decided to establish their own company in Saudi Arabia, a firm rooted in the belief that excellence should not be a privilege, but an accessible standard. A company where the client's success is placed above all else, where every engagement is a partnership, and where "People First" remains the crown jewel of its philosophy. From these values, the name Prime was born, chosen to embody a matrix of principles captured in a single word.

This is the spirit upon which our journey was built, and it continues to guide every success story we create today.

Founders
